Outplacement & HR

NGO Recruitment's outplacement services are designed specifically for not-for-profit organisations, charities, education institutions, industry associations, faith-based organisations and political and activist groups needing to make an employee or number of employee roles redundant.

Our specialist not for profit consultants manage the transition process smoothly, offering career support, assistance and coaching to those affected. Because our recruitment teams work with our extensive not for profit clients on a daily, they understand their requirements and selection processes.

Our HR experts are widely regarded as trusted advisors within the sector. Our HR services can also be engaged at the same time as our payroll services for a complete and tailored human resources management solution.
